

What a Waste

The Price of Passivity

Hell is not only real, it is a real possibility. Those whom the Lord describes as being condemned were not condemned due to any sin they committed, but as a result of passivity. Sins of omission can have a consequence not only in this life, but in eternal life.

Discussion Questions

1. There is “being polite” and there is “ignoring someone’s genuine need”. Do you find it easy or difficult to tell the difference in your ordinary daily life? Discuss.
 2. At the end of our lives, we will be judged definitively. And we will be judged fairly. Do you often consider your particular judgment? Do you avoid thinking about it? Why or why not? Please discuss.
 3. God has revealed that He is not passive in our regard. He has done everything possible for us to be able to live with Him forever. What most inclines you to be passive in regard to choosing (or not choosing) Him back? Discuss.
 4. We know that we will be judged on how well we love the people around us who need love the most. Do you find it difficult to notice people’s needs? Who do you find most difficult to love? How can you begin seeing Jesus more clearly in them? Please share your ideas.
 5. This series has been about using what God has already given. Take some time to share three things you have been given that God is wanting you to use and not waste. And please discuss?

God in Real Life

1. This week, pay attention to the people near you who are in most need. Ask God if He is asking you to befriend someone near you.
