Incomparable

We will continue walking through this world in which people are better than us. How can we become invincible to comparison?

Discussion Questions

1. Who is one person you know who inspires you? What is inspiring about them?
 2. When you hear the claim that there will “always be people who are better than you”, how do you respond? Is it a hard word? Or is that something that is just plain and obvious to you? Either way, discuss why you think you respond that way.
 3. We can choose to allow comparison to condemn us or we can choose to allow comparison to inspire us...to highlight our limitations or reveal the possibilities. Which response do you most often have? Why? Share and discuss.
 4. Have you ever felt like people only cared about you because you had something to offer? Or because you had certain gifts that were useful to them? Please share. Have you ever cared about someone primarily because of their gifts? Please share.
 5. When it comes to “painting the sunrise/imitating Jesus”, do you look at other people’s canvases? Whose? If you don’t, why not?
 6. The only real comparison we should make is between ourself today and ourself yesterday. Is this true? Why or why not?

God in Real Life

This week, become incomparable by noticing other’s strengths and choosing to be inspired by your next step forward.

To the Heart

“We are confident of you in the Lord that what we instruct you, you are doing and will continue to do. May the Lord direct your hearts to the love of God and to the endurance of Christ.” 2 Thessalonians 3:4-5
