Broken, Not Lost

Jesus is the God of the broken heart.

Discussion Questions

1. Have you ever seen someone “lose heart”? What was it that got them to that point? Have you ever “lost heart” in a deeper way? Please share.
  2. “Jesus wept.” Have you ever paused to reflect on that verse? Have you ever pictured it? In reflecting on what it means that God Himself wept, what does it reveal to you about His Heart? Please share.
  3. Jesus wept...but He waited. Does that bother you? If so, why? If not, why not?
  4. God wants us to have “unconditional trust” in Him. To be able to say, “Even if he will not” in the midst of our prayers. Have you ever been in a place where you were able to pray like that? Please share.
  5. Jesus is the God of the Broken Heart. He allows our hearts to be broken in order to be like His. Have you ever found yourself closer to God in the midst of pain, knowing that you were in His Heart?

God in Real Life

This week, if and when you find yourself crushed by a world that's come undone, find yourself also in the crushed heart of Jesus.

To the Heart

“Jesus said, ‘Take away the stone.’ Martha, the dead man’s sister, said to him, ‘Lord, by now there will be a stench; he has been dead for four days.’ Jesus said to her, ‘Did I not tell you that if you believe you will see the glory of God?’” John 11:39-40
